

Cheeky Cheeky Kookaburra

Cheeky cheeky kookaburra, laughing in a tree
I wonder who he's laughing at, I hope it isn't me!
Maybe it's the kangaroo, doing a cart-wheel
He does a loop the loop the loop, which makes the kids all squeal...

Or maybe it's the wombat, playing bull-rush
But don't let the teacher see, Hush, hush, hush... (sshhhhh...!)

Cheeky cheeky kookaburra, laughing in a tree
I wonder who he's laughing at, I hope it isn't me!
There's so much in this playground much funnier than me
Why am I the subject of this comed-y?
Please stop the laughing, I feel very hurt
My lips are now a quivering, I'm scared I'm going to blurt!

Cheeky cheeky kookaburra, laughing in a tree
I wonder who he's laughing at, I hope it isn't me!
Maybe it's the crocodile trying a hand-stand
But his arms weren't long enough, it didn't go as planned...!
Or maybe it's the dingo playing red and green light
Was swooped by a magpie and got a big fright! (aghhhhh...!)

Cheeky cheeky kookaburra, laughing in a tree
I wonder who he's laughing at, I hope it isn't me!
I feel so em-barrassed, I see kookaburra's gaze
But why does he laugh at me...?
...I'M WEARING MY PJ'S!!!
