

Sun Reflecting off the dark blue lake Shadows dancing on the sandy shore the mystical sounds the waves make perplexing people's minds forever more

Birds are soaring across an abandoned sky
The sun is beating down on the people below
Crabs skittering on the sand remain shy
Signs of wildlife are beginning to show

Sometimes I get distracted
Sift through thoughts in my mind
All hopes I had were shattered now all have left is something I have to find

The mist is settling on hilltops
A quiet man reflecting on his life
As he stared at the valley all time stops
All the memories rush back as he cries

Sometimes I get distracted
Sift through thoughts in my mind
All hopes I had were shattered
Now all have left is something I have to find