

Rain

By Samantha Wong

Verse 1:

I built a castle, 'round my inclinations t'wards you,
Made a life that's full of sorrow, full of pain.
And in my sandcastle falling, I wait for you to kick the door in,
I think of you on stormy night and rainy days.

Chorus:

So I say-why'd you leave me here alone?
I could have told you life would be different if you'd just come on home-
Here in my heart, the feeling's not the same,
Every time the tide takes me away, I might just go insane.
When the rain takes me away.

Verse 2:

You're like a shadow from an old familiar memory,
Like a silent moving picture in a frame.
You think you're worth all the money, you think your jokes are kinda funny,
You played me like the fool in your game.

Chorus:

So I say-why'd you leave me here alone?
I could have told you life would be different if you'd just come on home-
Here in my heart, the feeling's not the same,
Every time the tide takes me away, I might just go insane.
When the rain takes me away.

Verse 3:

I want the feeling, of a god-like kinda healing,
They tell me miracles do happen if you pray.
But even if I've gone crazy, and a backwards kinda hazy,
I think my life is getting better by the day.

Chorus:

So maybe I can make it on my own,
You're not the one who loves me anymore so please leave me alone-
Here in my heart, I've learned to be OK,
Every time the tide takes me away, I don't think I'm insane.
I'll live to see another day.
